Founder/Executive Director

Chloe Chapman
Our Little Rock

Little Rock is my home. Having been an urban nomad most of my life, I enjoy exploring places and their unique quirks, qualities, and beauty.

Little Rock has so much the potential. The natural elements, history, culture. The people here have a lot of heart. There's opportunity to bridge communities, sectors, and people to enable this place and the people in it to thrive.

I bring to this organization energy and heart. I'm a doer and problem solver with over 10 years of experience doing systems and people operations in mission-driven start-ups and non-profits. I look forward to applying my schooling in psychology & business, America Walks fellowship, and APAC's certified facilitator training to this work.

I hope to collaborate and learn from and with people across the city to better understand how this city works. And create safe spaces for exploration, curiosity, and action steps to make this a more livable city for us all.
